

Insulated Concrete Forms (ICF)

GBCL

Building Strong Communities

GBCL began building with ICF in 1986. GBCL realized from the outset the advantages of this type of construction and has been building with it ever since. The superior insulating value leads to very low heating costs on both commercial and residential buildings built with ICF. The fire and rot resistance are also attributes when figuring in life cycle costs. The most frequent note we get from clients is the noise reduction from outside.
